The SMC Lady Cyclones participated in a gum scrimmage Thursday, August 27, at Stapleton High School. This gave everyone in the community an opportunity to watch the girls in action as they begin their 2009 season tonight, Thursday September 3, at Hyannis.

It was a great night for the season opener for the SMC Cyclones. Stapleton and Tryon fans couldn't have asked for a better night for football. Perfect weather conditions, a great tailgate party, and a 50-20 win against Maywood.

McPherson County High School welcomed Mr. Tim Negley to the school staff this fall. The new ag teacher grew up in Ithica, near Lincoln. "I am excited about my future here at MCHS and to be a part of the SMC Cyclone coaching staff. It's a great opportunity and I hope to be able to make a difference," he said.

Nine 4-H members brought a total of 94 exhibits in 49 project areas to the McPherson County Fair Building for the August 6 entry day of the 2009 McPherson County Fair.

Leo & Judy Dailey of Tryon, Craig & Tish Dailey, Logan & Colton, and Savanna Kruger of North Platte, and Marty & Kari Dailey of Bennett Colorado, enjoyed a weekend camp out at Lake Maloney. Quite a few from this community attended the roping at Lake Maloney over the Labor Day weekend. In the 6-steer average, Wes Sharp and Don Neal had the 2nd and the 4th fastest times in two go arounds, a 14.8 and 13.4. Duane Wilson and Jack Lowe had the fastest time of the day, 13 flat.

With about an hour of type setting left to do this week, Old Mr. Linotype decided to take a rest. With a little gear wearing out and no replacement, we figured we were going to be a few days late, but luck was with us too, as Art French at Stapleton had the piece we needed, so a quick trip there and back put us only a few hours behind. Sorry for delay. (Don Nicholson was the publisher.)

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Neal of Kearney, were the proud parents of a baby boy, Trevor Jay, born August 31, 1969.

A picnic was held in Miller Park at Tryon for Danny Nicholson who is enjoying a furlough with home folks. Danny left by plane Tuesday morning to go back to San Diego, California where he will attend Communication School.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hunn, Von and David, attended the Nebraska State Fair for a couple of days last week. They spent Saturday night with Karen's grandfather, Mr. W. B. Doran, at Sterling, Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cotton and Reva, Wanda Priest, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Snyder and Jean drove to Hot Springs, S.D. Friday night to meet Mr. and Mrs. Billie Bordon of New Castle, Wyoming. Everyone enjoyed three days of camping, fishing and sight-seeing.

Over The Hills

Quote: "Blowing out someone else's candle won't make your light any brighter. Remember that!"

I found this on the internet and thought it was well worth sharing.

The first police officer reaches under the one-ton bale of hay and attempts to lift it off of me. Of course, it doesn't budge. He grabs his flashlight and shines it under the hay into my face. I blink. He yells over his shoulder to his partner, "He's alive! He's alive! Help me move the hay."

Even working together two officers can't move it - not a fraction of an inch. A thousand pounds each? Of course they can't move it.

"Cut the strings," I whisper. My voice is weak. They can't hear me.

I am not going to last much longer. If they will just cut the strings, the bale will break apart, and they can drag me out of here.

"Lift, Joe, lift!"
"Just cut the strings," I mumble, "Please cut the strings."

"C'mon harder."

"It's too heavy! We can't lift it. We gotta go for help! Hang on Chad, we'll be right back!"

I am alone again in the growing darkness. Wonderful painless, peaceful, irresistible sleep beckons. I struggle to remain conscious. One. Two. Three. Four... Where are they? How long does it take for police, fire, ambulance, to arrive? Where is the Coast Guard? Where are the Marines? Where is that one old farmer with enough common sense to just cut the strings?

The desert air grows chilly as the sky darkens. I grow weaker. Dizziness overcomes me and I begin to drift off into that gray space somewhere between the living and the dead.

Help finally arrives. One of the police officers bends down so I can see his face. "Hold on! A fire engine is here. There are six men aboard."

I do the math. Two big, strong cops and six burly firemen must move a ton of dead weight off me. That's two hundred forty five pounds each. No way can they possibly do that - but somehow, miraculously, they do. A couple of neighbors who have arrived at the scene stand by to catch me. They lower my limp body to the ground where I lie in a broken heap.

Why didn't they cut the strings? They could have saved a long, tortured hour.

How heavy is hay? A piece of hay is about the weight of a feather. How many pieces of hay does it take to make two thousand pounds? Lots. That package of sixteen bales individual pieces of hay wrapped in a gigantic bundle is a crushing weight. But separated, it would have been nothing.

I feel bad saying this, because it makes me sound ungrateful - and I am very grateful to the guys who saved my life that night - but there is a point to be made here, isn't there?

Is it too big?

Is it overwhelming?

Cut the strings - just cut the strings!

Are you buried under crushing burdens? Projects that are too huge? Schedules that are too complicated? Maybe you are trying to do too much at once - trying to do everything instead of doing something.

Cut the strings and cut yourself free. Do one thing at a time - and get it done. Move "out of the strain of the doing into the peace of the done."

This weeks poem may not have much to do with the above story although a pesky fly would sure have added to the agony!

PESTILENCE

That dratted fly!
He's such a pest!
I try to swat him
But he's a real test!

Outguessing these beasts
Takes cunning and sleight,
Just try to outwit
One buzzing old fly!

One swat and he is finished!
If he will only stay still-
Meantime I'll keep on trying
Though I'm fighting uphill!

Ah, blessed moment!
That fly is now a "squash"!
There's gook everywhere
But, it will come out with the wash.

Noxious Weeds Must Be Controlled You are required to control noxious weeds on your property.

The noxious weeds are: Musk Thistle, Plumeless Thistle, Canada Thistle, Leafy Spurge, Knapweed (spotted and diffuse), Purple Loosestrife, Saltcedar, Phragmites, Knotweed (Japanese and Giant), and Sericea Lespedeza. Notice is hereby given this 29th day of August, 2019, pursuant to the Noxious Weed Control Act, section 2-955, subsection 1(a), to every person who owns or controls land in McPherson County, Nebraska, that noxious weeds being grown, or growing on, such land shall be controlled at such frequency as to prevent establishment, provide eradication, or reduce further propagation or dissemination of such weeds.

Upon failure to observe this notice, the county weed superintendent is required to:

1. Proceed pursuant to the law and issue legal notice to the landowner of property infested with noxious weeds and giving such landowner 15 days to control the noxious weed infestation. Conviction for noncompliance may result in a $100 per day fine to the landowner, with a maximum fine of $1,500; or

2. Should more immediate control be required, proceed pursuant to the law and have the weeds controlled by such method as he/she finds necessary, the expense of which shall constitute a lien and be collected as a tax against the land, and be collected as other real estate taxes are collected, or by other means, as provided by law.

Also, the public is notified that noxious weed seed and propagative parts may be disseminated through the movement of machinery and equipment, trucks, grain and seed, hay, straw, nursery stock, fencing materials, sod, manure, and soil as well as articles of similar nature. Methods of treatment have been prescribed by the Director of Agriculture and may be obtained from the county weed control authority.

By Order of McPherson County Weed Control Authority

John E. Bryant, Chairman

Richard C. Cook, Control Superintendent
